

At first blush it would seem that night driving would be the most dangerous time but in fact, a study by AAA of fatal teen driving accidents from 2002 to 2005 showed that there were almost as many fatal crashes for teens on weekdays between 3pm and 5pm as there were on Friday and Saturday nights between 9pm and 2am. Warn your teen drivers to be extra careful during these hours. To learn more, read our blog here .