

Most insurance companies will allow this option. Most will also allow you to set up monthly or quarterly installments that automatically charge you credit card when due.