

You can save up to 37% on your Homeowners Insurance in NC in one quick phone call!

North Carolina home insurance is a policy that provides protection against disasters and other losses that can damage your property or otherwise hurt you financially. In most cases, this type of insurance is in the form of a package policy called the North Carolina homeowners insurance policy that covers the following:

- The structure of your home itself
- Outbuildings on your property
- Your personal belongings
- Liability protection
- Additional living expenses should you be displaced from your home due to disaster

Coverage for these things varies depending on your policy. We can help create a comprehensive policy for you that provides adequate coverage in the areas you need it. Typically, floods, earthquakes, and normal wear and tear are excluded from homeowner's insurance coverage but supplemental policies can be purchased to cover floods and earthquakes.

At Clinard Insurance, you will have your own personal agent to take as much time as you need to work through and understand your homeowners insurance policy. And the next time you need to call us you can speak to that same person, an agent that understands your situation and with whom you have developed a good working relationship. Don't try to do it yourself with online quoting sites, insuring your most valuable asset is complex and you deserve to have the one on one personal help that it really takes to make sure that you get it right the first time.
